Dear: Blake Ratcliffe

Thank you for inquiring about the availability of recycled material for your corrugated packaging needs. We are proud to offer corrugated manufactured with 100% post consumer recycled content from Pratt Industries.

Pratt Industries has two state of the art paper mills located in Staten Island, New York and Conyers (Atlanta), GA. These mills manufacture linerboard from a combination of old corrugated cartons (OCC) and mixed office waste (MOW) collected from the metropolitan areas of New York City and the greater Atlanta area of the south eastern United States.

Their unique process of "Harvesting the Urban Forrest" saves 25,000 trees per day from being consumed by the paper industry, as well as prevents over 700,000 tons per year of waste paper from entering our land fills.

In addition, these state of the art mills use 40% less water and 25% fewer kilowatt hours per ton of paper produced than a conventional paper mill.

If you have any other questions please feel free to contact me at your convenience.

Sincerely;

Rich Wilson
